Aberdeen Science Centre

Aberdeen Science Centre (ASC) is on a mission to “inspire a lifelong interest in science”. With over 35 years of experience, we've mastered the art of making STEM (science, technology, engineering, and maths) learning accessible, exciting, and enjoyable for all. Our journey has connected us with diverse audiences including children, young people, and adults from a multitude of backgrounds.

Inside our Science Centre, a realm of wonder awaits. Over 60 interactive exhibits beckon, unveiling the mysteries of Space, Energy, Life Sciences, Engineering, and more. Alongside this, our passionate team has crafted workshops and activities that go hand in hand with the Curriculum for Excellence, fostering inclusivity and knowledge. Through interactive discovery, we reveal the real-world significance of STEM, equipping visitors with vital skills and understanding.

Every year we engage with over 60,000 individuals through our public, schools and community engagement programmes. We have vast experience of delivering high-quality content to a variety of audiences and specialise in turning what can sometimes be tricky science into easy-to-understand activities.
